

4th American Meeting of Phytocannabinoid Experts

Quito, Ecuador: 9, 10 and 11 February 2023

An international event focused on the use of cannabis, its medical applications, scientific advances and industrial development. A unique experience of exchange and knowledge of this plant that will be held in the facilities of one of the best universities in Latin America, Universidad de Las Américas UDLA, which will additionally provide academic support for the meeting.

All information at www.cannamerica.org.

The fourth version of Cannamerica will be held over three days, with a packed programme of talks by the most renowned figures in the cannabis world, who will present their personal experiences of research, uses and clinical practice, technological development, public policies, regulatory framework and the role of the university in this context.

Those attending this cannabis experience will be able to present their scientific work and learn about other studies being carried out in this area, which will be selected and awarded prizes by an academic team of experts in 7 areas.

Visitors will also be able to visit a commercial exhibition of stands with the best brands at the forefront of the world of cannabis and share in a meet & greet directly with the international figures taking part.

Among the most illustrious guests are Czech scientist Lumir Hanus with his study of Anandamide, Spanish biologist Cristina Sanchez with her research on cancer and THC, American doctors Ethan Russo and Jordan Tishler and Briton David Nutt, along with American engineer Mara Gordon.

On the Latin American side, doctors Sergio Sánchez from Chile, José Ramírez from Peru, Emilio García and Facundo Alvarez from Argentina, Dr. Sandra Carrillo from Colombia and Dr. Julio Vicencio from Ecuador, representing the hosts of this Cannamerica, who are also the organisers of this scientific and political group initiated in 2018 Peru, 2019 Chile, 2020 Argentina and 2023 Ecuador.

Why be part of the new cannabis era at the 4th CANNAMERICA meeting?

If you want to be a leader in innovation, development and business in the new cannabis era, you should be part of the largest platform of Cannabis experts on the continent.

Social networks Instagram, facebook, linkedin: @Cannamericaecuador
@mayuecuador
Instagram: @GrupoCannamerica
Facebook: @Cannamerica

Commercial contact:

Lizbeth Fajardo

ecuador@cannamerica.org

+593996732491

ENGLISH

4th American Meeting of Experts on Phytocannabinoids

Quito, Ecuador: February 9, 10 and 11, 2023

An international event focused on the use of cannabis, its medical applications, scientific advances and industrial development. A unique experience of exchange and knowledge of this plant that will take place at the facilities of one of the best universities in Latin America, Universidad de Las Américas UDLA, which in addition to the meeting will have its academic endorsement.

All information at www.cannamerica.org.

For 3 days, the fourth Cannamerica version will take place, with a rich program of talks by the most renowned cannabis figures worldwide, who will present their personal experiences of research, uses and clinical practice, technological development, public policies, framework regulation and the role of the university in this context.

Those attending this cannabis experience will be able to present their scientific work and find out about other studies that are being carried out in this area, which will be selected and awarded by an expert academic team in 7 areas.

It is also contemplated that visitors can tour a commercial sample of stands with the best cutting-edge brands in the world of cannabis and share in a meet & greet directly with the participating international figures.

Among the most distinguished guests are the Czech scientist Lumir Hanus with his study of Anandamide, the Spanish biologist Cristina Sánchez with her research on cancer and THC; the American doctors Ethan Russo and Jordan Tishler and the British David Nutt, along with the American engineer Mara Gordon.

On the Latin American side, the doctors Sergio Sánchez from Chile, José Ramírez from Peru, Emilio García and Facundo Alvarez from Argentina, Dr. Sandra Carrillo from Colombia and Dr. Julio Vicencio from Ecuador stand out, representing the hosts of this Cannamerica , who, in addition, are the organizers of this scientific and political group started in 2018 Peru, 2019 Chile, 2020 Argentina and 2023 Ecuador.

Why be part of the new cannabis era at the 4th CANNAMERICA meeting?

If you want to be a leader in innovation, development and business in the new cannabis era, you must be part of the largest platform of expert Cannabis professionals on the continent.

Social networks Instagram, facebook, linkedin: @Cannamericaecuador
@mayuecuador

Instagram: @GrupoCannamerica

Facebook: @Cannamerica

Commercial contact:

Eng. Lizbeth Fajardo

ecuador@cannamerica.org

+593996732491