

World Stadiums & Arena Development Summit Returns to Riyadh for its Second Edition

Riyadh, Saudi Arabia — 1st – 2nd September 2025

Following a highly successful inaugural edition in February 2025, the World Stadiums & Arena Development Summit is set to return to Riyadh for its second edition this 1–2 September 2025.

This prestigious gathering once again brings together government stakeholders, developers, architects, contractors, consultants, and operators from across the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and beyond — all focused on the future of large-scale stadiums and arena infrastructure.

With stadiums and arenas playing an increasingly vital role in urban development, tourism, and economic diversification, the summit serves as a critical platform for sharing insights, showcasing innovations, and forging business connections.

Attendees can expect two dynamic days of:

- High-level keynotes and panel discussions
- Case studies of successful sports venue projects
- Showcase of cutting-edge technologies & innovations
- Networking with key decision-makers shaping the region's sports landscape

As Saudi Arabia continues its ambitious Vision 2030 goals, including bids for global sporting events and a rising investment in sports and entertainment infrastructure, this summit arrives at a crucial time for the region.

The first edition of the summit, held in February 2025 in Riyadh, was met with overwhelming response, drawing leading voices from across the stadium development ecosystem. The upcoming edition builds on this momentum with expanded programming and deeper engagement opportunities.
